

10 Decoloniality Guiding Principles

As Countdown 2030 Europe, we will strive towards embedding the following Guiding Principles in our collective work in order to move towards a decolonial way of working:

01. We will apply a decoloniality lens to our work and question systematically whether we could do things differently.

02. We will be aware of our positionality as a European consortium and recognise what we can and can't speak on as experts.

03. We will leverage our power in Europe to raise the voices of global majority SRHR activists, CSOs and experts and ensure their voices are integrated into all of the work we do.

04. We will create spaces safe enough for people to disagree and bring controversial issues to the table.

05. We will explore how to embed a decolonial, intersectional feminist approach to reproductive justice in all of our work.

06. We will show solidarity with global reproductive justice issues.

07. We will reflect on the way we work and the make-up of the consortium and strive towards a structure more inclusive of global majority voices and expertise.

08. We will push ourselves to step out of our comfort zone and will not stop when the work gets hard.

09. We will be reflexive and self-critical along our journey and learn from our mistakes.

10. We will be transparent about the decoloniality journey we are on and hold ourselves accountable
